

I understand that in these tough economic times, we have to explore every option to balance the budget, but I simply don't think this should be the way to do so.

Between raffle tags, multi-season permits, landowner hunting permits, auction tags and tribal hunting, it's no wonder why so few tags are available to those of us who just spend the $5.48 (plus the cost of licenses and tags) to put in for a special permit drawing. Oh well, maybe I'll just get a two-pole permit and stick to fishing, maybe the state will even let me fish with a barbed hook on the second pole if I just pay a little bit more.
